Chamber seeking Business of the Year nominees

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is once again seeking nominations for their annual Business of the Year award. Area residents are invited to submit the names of businesses they feel are deserving of the award.

The nomination should include the reasons why the business is worthy of recognition, and must include the name and phone number of the person making the nomination. Nominations may be mailed to Box 639, Elk Point or faxed to 724-4211.

Deadline for nominations is Friday, November 13.

Senior Friendly

Donna Chamberland, who is involved in the Alberta Council on Aging through the Alberta Retired Teachers Association, was the guest speaker at the Chamber's October 21 meeting. She is the only rural representative on a board which is studying ways to make communities more "senior friendly." A "Senior Friendly Challenge" for businesses is being undertaken which "gives businesses something to think about" in ways they can better serve the needs of senior residents of their community. Next year is the International Year of Elderly Persons, and this is a very opportune time to consider ways to help seniors.

Mrs. Chamberland's presentation included a film featuring Don Harron and his rustic alter-ego, Charlie Farquarson, which showed how seniors are often ignored and not treated with the dignity and respect they deserve.

Most seniors still live in their own homes and it is a myth that most seniors are helpless, the film noted. Most seniors have given and continue to give a great deal to their communities. "It doesn't take

■ Task force implemented

Health centre: use it or you could lose it

Elk Point's Interagency Health Committee is planning a promotional campaign to increase use of the Elk Point Health Centre by encouraging local residents to seek health care at home rather than going out of town.

A task force with members from the Chamber of Commerce and Town joining IHC representatives was formed to work on promotion of the centre. Ways to utilize the facility to the optimum extent were also explored at the IHC's October 20 meeting.

Following a special meeting of the IHC a week earlier, Mayor Ed Buck spoke to both Lakeland Regional Health Authority chairman Dareld Cholak, and to Diana Anderson, the local representative to the LRHA Board.

Cuts are proposed across the LRHA district, and the board is looking at scenarios which will bring expenses more in line with income, however neither Cholak or Anderson were at liberty to disclose these scenarios. Buck told the Interagency group that area MLAs, who have met with the LRHA to discuss proposed cutbacks, find the proposed measures unacceptable.

"We are going to have to stress using this facility," Buck said. Increased usasge would "cut our odds [of cutbacks] down."

The IHC brainstormed a variety of solutions, which included encouraging the community to support local physicians, making the community aware that going elsewhere for health care could be a death knell for the health centre, and specialization.

Making the public aware of the capabilities of the health centre and the local physicians, and when and where patients are sent elsewhere for care could go a long way to relieve an element of fear some local residents may have, that of being sent where they don't want to go for health related procedures.

A meeting with with MLA Paul Langevin in an effort "to find out what we're fighting against" was suggested by Mayor Buck and will be scheduled as soon as possible. Buck will also discuss the planned promotion with the local physicians to get their input.

The Interagency Health Committee will look further at pursuing some form of specialization at future meetings.

much" to make businesses better for seniors, Harron said. "A little thought goes a long way, and there are no more loyal customers than seniors, if they are treated right."

Examples shown in the film were banks with special seniors areas, senior-friendly communications, and making things easy to see, hear and understand. Active, involved seniors cost society less, and dollars go to senior-friendly stores. Common sense and courtesy go a long way toward tapping the expanding potential of the senior market.

The Chamber's next regular meeting is November 4, when Rich Grayson of the RCMP will be in attendance to talk about the 1999 commemorative March West.

A post-election perspective on politics

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Election Day is over, the votes counted and the winners were declared and congratulated. Politics is a tough area to work in for anyone. It is a people relationship / contributions area that is viewed by everyone. People who enter politics really have to give of themselves while at the same time allowing people to watch everything they do.

We live in a country where each is free to choose the contributions he or she will make — and, sadly, some choose to make none — but no country, no matter how large or wealthy or influential, will ever be greater than the collective goodness of its individual citizens.

It is so easy to criticize what political people do or do not do, but — it takes several people to run a government or a committee. Collectively, it takes all their contributions.

Without even knowing it, we leave our signature on people, projects, and places throughout our life. An ancient Chinese proverb tells us: "A child's life is like a piece of paper on which every passerby leaves a mark." It's no different with adults. Like Stradivari (His workmanship on the violin is long remember), devoted parents leave their mark: they're creators, providing guidance and love. Dedicated teachers are builders, encouraging dreams and aspirations. And true friends are motivators, extending support and comfort. All these live on for countless generations in the hearts and minds of their recipients.

Thus with that understanding, it must also follow that people who enter politics must leave their mark on decisions that are made at the committee levels and within the government level.

Let us not forget our politicians just because the election is over. It reminds me of a story. There was an old farmer who planted and plowed around a large rock in his field. Even after breaking several plowshares and a cultivator against the stone, he continued to work around it. He grew rather accustomed to this enemy in the field. And then one day he lost another plowshare to the rock. Remembering all the problems it had caused him through the years,he finally decided to take action. Putting a crowbar under the stone, he discovered that the "foreboding rock" was only a few inches thick and could easily be broken with a sledgehammer. Hauling the crushed pieces away, he smiled sadly as he reflected on all the trouble the rock had given him and how he could have gotten rid of it years ago.

This story reminds me of a politician, because it is my impression they enter politics so they can do something "about it". May all of us take the time to wish them well and support them along the way.

Author Barbara Smith scares Crusaders

Eagles win tournament

By Juanita R. Daniels
Heinsburg School Reporter

Hurray! Heinsburg School's Junior Girls volleyball team took first place at our tournament here last weekend. The girls did exceptionally well against the two teams from Elk Point and St. Paul. In fact the Eagles Junior Girls won eight out of the nine games they played.

The Junior Boys also did very well during the tournament, placing second in an evenly matched set of games against Elk Point.

The junior teams consist of many "rookie" players this year and the teams are as follows: Jr. Girls — Meaghean L. , Myrna Q., Randi D., Lindsey S., Nadine Y., Cheryl D., Christine L., Kristy Q., Ruby D., Shantelle M., Kendra A., Misty Q., Dionna Q. and Charity C.. The Junior Boys are — Hans M., Aaron J., Shane C., Levi S., BJ S., RJ S. and Jimmy Q.

Mr. Smith is helping coach the teams along with two senior high students, Sarah D. and Aaron S.

On behalf of the teams, I would like to thank Mr. Smith for the wonderful meals and Roscoe Sanders for refereeing the games. Without them, the tournament would not have been a success.

So that's all for this week. Have a great weekend.

HALLOWEEN ISN'T JUST FOR KIDS! Sids Holthe's Toe Tappers were joined by a colorful clown and an Indian princess as they danced up a storm at Parkview Extended Care last week for a delighted audience of residents and visitors who attended Parkview's very enjoyable Halloween party.

Government discussion paper on farm tax revisions

The MLA Farm Property Assessment Review is seeking public input on proposed changes to how farm property is assessed and taxed as outlined in the committee's "Discussion Paper on Farm Property Assessment and Taxation".

The committee, which was established in June 1997 by Municipal Affairs Minister Iris Evans is holding series of public meetings throughout the province mid-October to mid-November.

The discussion paper discusses a number of issues relating to the assessment and taxation of farm property. Those issues include what should be considered 'farming operations' for the purposes of assessment, farm residence tax exemptions, residential sites on farm land and how farm land should be valued for assessment purposes.

Richard Marz, MLA Olds-Didsbury-Three Hills Constituency, chairs the committee and assures me that although the committee supplied options on some of the issues and recommended solutions on others, the intent of the discussion paper is to promote a full discussion on all of the issues addressed in the paper.

Among the recommendations included in the report are the following: adopting a new definition of farming operations; assessing woodlots based on their productive value; providing municipalities the flexibility to apply different tax rates on farm property depending on the type of farming operation; and continue assessing land not used for farming operations at market value.

If you have comments you can make your views known by either attending one of the public meetings or filling out the comment form contained in the back of the discussion paper. Albertans will have until November 18, 1998 to complete the comment sheets. Formal written submissions will also be accepted up until November 18.

The "Discussion Paper on Farm Property Assessment and Taxation" is available at my constituency office.

In this constituency, the public meeting will be held in St. Paul on Tuesday, November 3 at 1:00 p.m., St. Paul Senior Citizens Club Hall.

Following the public meetings and review of the written comments, the committee will make its final recommendations to the Standing Policy Committee on Agriculture and Rural Development. This is expected to take place in Spring 1999.

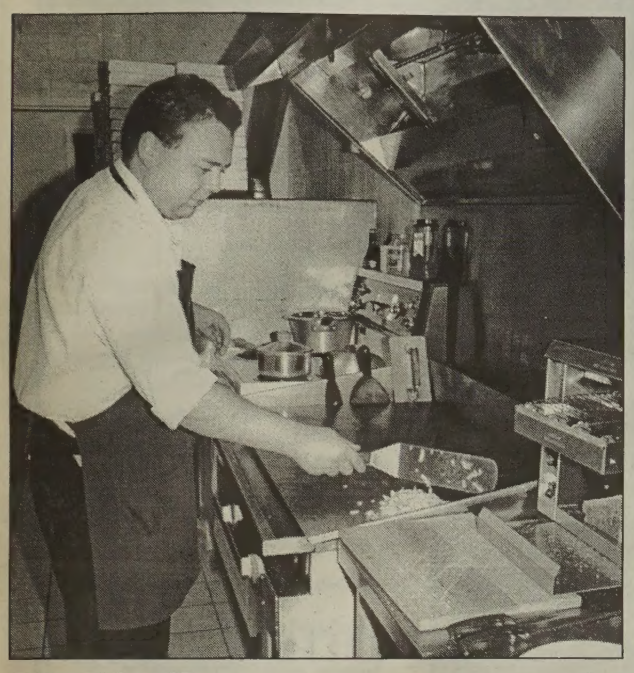
small business WEEK



It's Frosty in this Elk Point kitchen

The weather has been unusually warm for autumn, and at Frosty's Kitchen, which recently opened under new management along Highway 41, they've been serving up the chilly treats of summer, along with a brand new m enu of home-cooked dishes.

Bob Giguere says his first few weeks have been a time of change, as he added new items ranging from homemade strawberry jam to go along with his extensive breakfast menu, to a soup and sandwich special and individual sized pizzas at lunch time. Starting this week, he will have daily breakfast specials and evening dinner specials as well.

BUSY COOKING A BIG BREAKFAST for one of his early morning customers is Bob Giguere at Frosty's Kitchen on Highway 41.

While this is a fast food restaurant, Giguere says he is moving toward being "a full service restaurant with fast service." Most of their food is made on site, with their pizza dough made fresh daily and topped with their own freshly made pizza sauce, for example. Other specialties of the house are grilled chicken breasts in burgers or added to a salad, and their pizza fries — a calorie packed combo of fries enlivened with pizza seasoning and topped with mozzarella cheese and gravy.

Guigere has only been in Elk Point a few weeks, but he's "committed to staying in the community on a long term basis." He says getting started in his new business "has been hectic, but things are settling down. Now I'd like to have a more active role in the community."

Frosty's Kitchen is open 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Sundays and holidays.

■ Great for gifts

Hitched to the western lifestyle

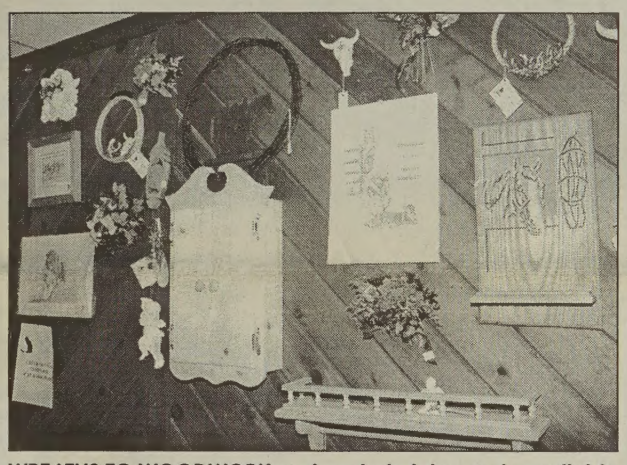
The western way of life is the theme for Elk Point's new craft and gift store, The Hitching Post, which mixes the creations of local artisans with unique items from further afield to offer a good selection to shoppers.

Manager Daphne Schnurer has brought together the woodworking talents of Jim Vinge, Rick Pilisko, Ron Lesyk and T & C Woodcraft, wheat weaving by Verona Lea Flanders, rope wreaths and decorated horseshoes by Vegreville's Marilyn Dmytriw, Kehewin CreeAtions wonderful handloomed rugs, cushions and tote bags, western prints by Joan Herbert of Neilburg, SK, dried flower arrangements by Val Merkel, ceramics by Linda and Wayne Hymanyk and Brenda Hollinger, handcrafted willow work by Dale and Cathy Botting, made-to-order rope picture frames by Joanne Hillebrandt of St. Lina and sturdy handmade halters by Garth Letestu. More local crafts, candles and western-theme tee shirts are still coming in.

The shop opened September 2 after Daphne came up with the idea of taking crafts on consignment to fill up extra space in the premises of Lakeland Security, owned by Jeff Victor and Victor John, next door to the Elk Point Town Office. The concept has been such a success that "we're fast running out of room."

The shop also handles feed for livestock and pets and will give 4-H members purchasing $100 worth of feed and/or tack a free lead rope, and a free halter with the next $100 worth.

Hitching Post's Grand Opening is this weekend, October 28 through 31, when they will be open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Their regular hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays.



WREATHS TO WOODWORK and a whole lot more is available at The Hitching Post, which is having their grand opening this coming weekend. Be sure to stop in!

Trail's End a new beginning

Trail's End Feed, Tack and Livestock Supplies is a new beginning for Linda and Garth Nelson, who opened their new business at the east end of Railway Avenue in mid-August, in the former critters location .

Garth arrived in the Elk Point area a year ago, and was followed by Linda in February. Linda is originally from Rocky Mountain House, and found the area much more to her liking than their previous home in the southern Alberta community of Vauxhall. "There's trees, lakes and a river — not irrigation ditches," she enthuses. "We bought a place along the river and we really like it here."

One thing they found their new home town was lacking was an outlet for feed for their horses. That, coupled with Linda's need "for something to do," prompted them to open a feed store.

Trail's End carries minerals, salt and feeds for horses and cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry, as well as pet food and supplies for everything from cats and dogs to hamsters, fish and rabbits. There is a variety of dog and cat food in various price ranges, and you can take home a sample to see if it meets Rover and Fluffy's approval before you purchase a sack.

Some tack, including horse blankets and halters, is now available and more can be ordered to meet your needs. There is also a good selection of horse training books. Fencing supplies and ear tags are also offered, and Linda hopes to have her licence to provide veterinary supplies by the end of November.

For those who like to provide dinner for wildlife, they have birdseed, big sacks of sunflower seeds, bird and squirrel feeders and birdhouses.

Trail's End is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday, 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

WHAT THE BEST DRESSED HORSE WILL WEAR, along with training books and feed, is displayed by Linda Nelson at Trail's End Feed, Tack and Livestock Supplies.

Fine dining and a great view

A sparkling and spotless new version of the Hilltop Cafe opened in early September, and is offering top-notch cuisine, a comfortable atmosphere and a panoramic view of Elk Point and beyond.

Ali Dalman, his life and business partner Tara and their baby son are new to Elk Point, but Ali, a trained chef, brings 18 years of restaurant experience with him as he continues a long standing family tradition. He shares the kitchen with a Jamaican chef who formerly worked on cruise ships, and the two are producing meals which are drawing many compliments from satisfied customers. Ali is originally from Turkey, and was in High Level before coming here, while Tara is from Sherwood Park.

The Hilltop is open from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., and offers daily specials. They feature Italian and French dishes as well as home cooking, and are getting a lot of comments on their excellent soups. Ali is planning such highlights as a 2-for-1 steak night and an all-you-can-eat pasta night in the near future.

The lounge next door is open 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. and is VLT-free for "comfortable, peaceful socializing," Ali says.

Ali and Tara plan to settle in Elk Point and become part of the community. Tara is currently spending most of her time at home these days, but is "a very important part of the operation." Ali's one regret is that he doesn't often get out of the kitchen to meet his customers. "I love dealing with the public, and I love what I do."

Ali and Tara are thankful to have found a good staff who they feel are doing a very good job, and also are thankful for Roger and Wendy at the Hilltop Motor Inn, for their valuable help in opening the restaurant.

HILLTOP CAFE'S ALI DALMAN spends most of his time in the kitchen, creating good food for satisfied customers.

Hey everyone! Are you ready to rumble?

Elk Point Minor Hockey season is finally here at last!

By Doug Bassett
Review Sports

Ladies and gentlemen. As we turned back our clocks from daylight saving, the days become shorter and another winter is upon us. The curtain opens, the spotlight shines. Introducing, in the black and white with blue trim jerseys, coming in various ages, heights and weights, males and females. Hailing from Elk Point, Alberta... The very talented... The well coached... The underrated.. The invincible... The one... The only... The Elk Point Minor Hockey teams. Thunder, Lightning, Storm, Avalanche, Blades, Cyclones and Tornadoes. "Let's get readddddy, to rummmmble!"

The Thunder jerseys, pulled down off the shelf and dusted off for the first time in two years, looked very impressive and so did the mixture of boys from Elk Point and Dewberry who seemed to gell in their first outing on Saturday night against Vegreville winning with a big bang, 10 to 2. Coached by Mark Woytkiw, an ex-Thunder player himself, the boys performed well for him their first time together as a team, considering he hardly knows all the players' names yet. But two of these guys are well known, veterans Jordan Bassett and Rocky Pankiw. These two tough guys played with the Thunder as Bantams and will lead the team with their experience this year. Also looking very good were promising rookies, Jonny Yake who scored two, and defenceman Peter Danyluk who played Saturday night after playing football in the afternoon. Although it's too early to make any predictions, with some line juggling, some power plays and short handed units, this team has great potential.

Minor Hockey meeting tonight

One disappointed player, who loves the game and plays with passion, Darcy Stafford, will miss part of the season, after suffering an accident at school on Friday that left him with a broken elbow. I'm sure, Darc will not sit out too long. Just as soon as he can get a clean bill of health, he'll be lacing them up, if not before!

The Bantam boys, who are also combined with Dewberry this season, lost to Lloydminster on Saturday after winning in Vermilion the weekend before. A large number of players who were previously committed to a volleyball tournament were missing from their lineup. Also missing was their big tough guy, Curtis Croteau, who was playing football in the final game of the season for the St. Paul Lions, in what is known as the Toilet Bowl, the finals for the bottom half of the league against Lac La Biche, a game that St. Paul lost. I'm sure this young football team will do better next year.

The Peewee Blades took on Bonnyville tier 1 on Saturday losing 5 to 3 then played Cold Lake on Sunday at home winning 8 to 2. Off to a good start to the season with a hat trick and three assists was talented second year peewee Mark Letestu.

The Atom Avalanche played Cold Lake on Sunday losing a close on 7 to 4. Two goals each for Lee Lestestu and Devin Moneta.

The Novice Hurricanes, with a small lineup of players, played up in Goodfish on Saturday, tying 3-all, then played Bonnyville on Sunday at home with a big 7 to 0 win. Two goals each in this one for Craig Dallaire and Shayden Anderson.

The Midget Girls Storm, with three peewee players in the lineup, Brett Hahn, Kristyn Ballas and Ashley Hebblethwaite, opened their season with a 7 to 2 win over a new team in the league this year, Vermilion. Scoring a hat trick in this one was a peewee player and a real sniper, Ashley Hebblethwaite. Singles by Tara Babenek, Kali Cousins, Kandice Bjornstad, and with two players short, Jena Bassett (she made me tell you that).

This coming weekend along with lots of hockey action, Elk Point Minor Hockey will be hosting the referee clinic, starting at 8 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday. And tonight at 7:30 p.m., the monthly meeting of Elk Point Minor Hockey. Some topics on the agenda: provincials, equipment, team pictures, and managers' responsibilities. Everyone is welcome.

Happy birthday tomorrow to the arena caretaker, Keith Campbell, and his wife Sue. How many couples do you know that have the same birthdays?

And last of all, you knew this was coming, just try to muzzle me now. The Leafs won another two games and are now leading not only the northeast division, but the whole eastern conference. All you old Leaf fans, I know you're out there, come on out of the closet.

what's NEWS at the LIBRARY?

Happy Halloween to our wonderful Friends!

By Karina Mitchell
Librarian

As my memories of Germany start to fade and I learn to live without my wonderful German chocolate fix, I am quickly getting back into the swing of things here at the Library. I have heard from numerous people that Jennifer did a wonderful job in my absence. It was great to be able to enjoy my time off knowing the Library was in capable hands. Thanks Jennifer! I really appreciate your good work as well as your enthusiasm.

Talking about helping the Friends of the Library Society had another Bingo. We made $2,881! Thank you to all those that came out to work the Bingo. As always, your time is appreciated and very important to the Library.

New Books ...

For Adults:

Joanna Trollope looks at that expanding social unit, the step-family, and the lives of three women — Nadine, the 'natural' mother, Josie the stepmother, Elizabeth the would-be stepmother in Other People's Children.

Lizzie and Frances are identical twins — Lizzie is the one who's always gotten everything right — husband, family, thriving business — while Frances has not. When Frances takes a married lover, Lizzie's perfect life starts to crumble from the stress — and from envy in The Spanish Lover by Joanna Trollope.

Indian Vegetarian Cooking from an American Kitchen by Vasantha Prasad shows you how to cook healthy Indian vegetarian recipes adapted for the modern American kitchen.

For Young Adults:

Brad has many questions about the absence of his father. But instead of finding answers, he tried to run away from his problems only to find that he cannot escape his feelings, memories or the past. Brad's Universe, by Mary Woodbury is a story about family, love and friendship, a story about coping with less-than-perfect situations.

The adventure continues from Julie of the Wolves in Jean Craighead's new book, Julie's Wolf Pack, an insightful look into the world of wolves in a captivating, epic tale of Kapu, a true and noble hero of the Arctic tundra.

Picture Books:

In Would You Love Me? by Andrea Wayne von Konigslow takes the reader through a gentle poem that illustrates the idea of unconditional love.

When Aaron has to give up his beloved animals, he searches for a pet that won't aggravate his allergies in Aaron's Awful Allergies by Troon Harrison with picture by Eugenie Fernandes.

IN MEMORIAM

CHUBEY, Pauline

A message for our mother, wife & grandmother, Pauline Chubey, who passed away October 29, 1988.

There is a love I feel this year as I think about the days
When messages are often sent to loved ones far away.
It's a love that once was given, but now the giver's gone.
The love that came from Mother within me still is strong.

Though my feelings need expression, my heart is overflowing.
I have a calm assurance from the certainty of knowing
That I possess a messenger who intercedes on my behalf.
The promise of the scriptures say all I need do is ask.

So Heavenly Father will You send for me
A message to my mother?
I know she's there at home with You.
Please tell her that I love her.

Love - Harry, Marie, Micheal, Connie, Taylor & Koleton.

Local group for kids stands test of time

Elk Point Parent Nursery is now in its twentieth year

By Sharlene Rutherford
Review contributor

Imagine that you are a mom or dad who has chosen to stay at home to raise your kids. You thought it was a good decision at the time. But now, it's the middle of winter, too cold to drive anywhere, you've lost track of what day it is, both kids have cabin fever and you find yourself scrawling out the words "Help Me" on the frost inside the window sill.

Sound familiar? Some parents can't even imagine such a scenario, but then again, there are some who have lived it. How did they survive? They discovered a fun group in town called Elk Point Parent Nursery Society. This loosely-structured club is now in its twentieth year of operation. Not only does it provide a chance for moms or dads to meet other parents in a relaxed social atmosphere, the kids think it's a great idea as well. After all, the society, which meets in the United Church Hall each Wednesday morning from 10 am until noon, has a large selection of toys for an age group that ranges from newborn to six.

A lot of parents and their children have enjoyed all that the PN Society has had to offer over the past twenty years. Former member Carol Lee had both daughters, Andrea, now seven and Jessica, now 10, in Parent Nursery. Even though her children are now grown and in school, Lee still recommends the program to parents of young children. "I enjoyed it a lot when I was involved. It was a good way to get out and meet new people around town. Especially in the winter, it was a good excuse to get out of the house."

Lee said she was glad to see that dads are also taking advantage of the PN Society's weekly get-togethers. One of those stay-at-home dads is Geoff Bishop. His children, Brendan, now five and Leigha, now three and a half, looked forward to each Wednesday. "The kids really enjoyed the playtime and the crafts. I enjoyed getting out with the kids and visiting other parents. So you could say I benefitted too," said Bishop.

This year's president of the Parent Nursery Society is Erin Mohyluk, who attends each week with her three boys; Zachary 4, Andrew 2 and Matthew 2 months. "I was new to the area and I didn't know very many people with children. When I found out about Parent Nursery it was a chance for me to get out of the house to interact with people my own age. And for the kids it was a good opportunity to learn to share with others." Mohyluk also credits Parent Nursery for providing her and others with parenting tips. "If you have any questions about your child's behaviour or development, there are other parents who will provide tips and share ideas on how to deal with certain stages of childhood development."

So, if you are a parent of young children, why not check us out? Parent Nursery meets each Wednesday morning in the United Church Hall from 10 am to noon. Walk-ins are welcome. For more information contact Erin Mohyluk at 741-2140 or Brenda Hayman at 724-3192.

IT'S A SMALL WORLD at Elk Point Parent Nursery, where preschoolers have a great time each week and moms enjoy visiting with their friends.
